

Process of reception of submitted works for the RIAO / OPTILAS 2016

As of 20 August 2016, the process of reception of submitted works for the RIAO / OPTILAS 2016 Conference has concluded. The deadline for submission was extended for 23 additional days past the original date, which resulted in 35 new contributions, and the total number of contributions received now exceeds 300. The deadline for review of submitted contributions has been extended until 31 August 2016; therefore, authors will be receiving notification of acceptance up until this date.

Also, we wish to point out that the deadline for student scholarship nominations concluded on its original deadline, i.e., 28 July 2016. Seventy applications for student scholarships were accepted. The scholarship consists of conference registration and hotel accommodation, free of cost; however, it was not possible to provide travel support. Each of the scholarship recipients has been informed of the decision via e-mail.
